RELIGIOUS SERVICES YESTERDAY, -The weather yesterday was cloudy, with a light drizzle about ten o'clock in the morning. Rev. Mr. Phelps, P. E., preached in the M. E. Church, morning and night; Rev. Mr. Rowe, Agent of the Virginia Bible Society, delivered an address in the 2nd Presbyterian Church in the morning, and in the M. E. Church South at night; Rev. Mr. Whittlesey, preached in the 1st Presbyterian Church, morning and afternoon; and Rev. A. Wilson, in the M. E. Church, in the morning. There was no service in the 2nd Presbyterian Church at night, With these exceptions regular services were conducted in the other churches by the resident clergy. The Washington Republican in its account of Sunday services says:—"At St. Mary's (Catholic) church Rev. Father O'Kane presched from the Gospel of the day, the parable of the supper. Fathers had, he said, always applied this parable to the Lord's Supper. That supper, prefigured by the manna in the desert under the old law, was announced by Christ in the remarkable discourse recorded in the sixth chapter of St. John's Gospel. There its nature and effects were distinetly portrayed. "The bread which I will give is my flesh for the life of the world." It was accepted then in its literal sense, both by those who had no faith in the words of the Lord and murmuring, "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?" and by those whose faith failed not and had spoke with Peter, 'Thou hast the words of eternal life.' This preannouncement was folfilled when at the supper preceeding the Passion the Lord took bread and blessed it and gave to his apostles, saying, Take ye and eat, this is my body. Do this in commemoration of me." And that the apostles took this literally is evident from the practice of the apostles, as recited by St. Paul in his epistle to the Corinthians, when speaking of the supper which the apostles "did in commemoration," be told them let a man prove himself before he partakes, for some by eating and drinking unworthily cat and drink damnation to themselves, not discerning the body of the Lord, If the body of the Lord was not there how could they be condemned for not dis-

who neglected for a year or even six months, to approach the holy table, were admonished that neither the care of farms nor stores would be an excuse of their neglect in the hour of. extremity, while the frequent worthy participation of the hely sacrament was the life of the soul. The early Christians did not neglect the duties of their state of life, and yet approached hely communion every day. In conclusion he begged the blessing of God on all present, that they might often eat of and abide in the Lord. St. Mary's church is now undergoing thorough repairs at the hands of its energetic pastor. Its choir, Miss Stoutenburg, organist, Mrs. Mouroe, the Missses ed with the usual number of scholars, and was conducted with the same general interest as heretofore considering the limited number of teachers. The session was closed with, an address by the Superintendent. "The King and West Streets Sunday School had 41 scholars in attendance - 4 of these being new attendants - with a large corps of teachers at work. The increase of interest in this school argues well for its fature usefulness in the section of the city in which it is located.

"The Alm's House meeting was again well attended, with a sufficient corps of workers. The exercises were of the most fervent and effective character.

The Jail mission had an unusually interesting season; a full committee was on hand, and their hearts greatly encouraged. The colportage work and open air meeting, at the canal basin, was a success; there was a smaller congregation than usual, but from the interest manifested in the exercises the committee were assured of the work and result accomplished. The open air meeting, at the corner of King and Washington streets, at 62 p. m., had a large force of workers but not a very large gathering; the exercises, however, were full of zeal and carnestness, partaking of the usual soul-stirring character displayed in these meetings. The Sunday afternoon prayer-meeting in the 2nd Presbyterian Church had a limited congregation and a full corps of the brethren on hand. The services were of the most refreshing and stiring character. The speakers upon the oceasion did not cease to warn the unconverted of the danger of delay in seeking the salvation of their souls." This meeting will be held next Sunday in the M. E. Church, South, Challis was to have commenced as is compatible with the energetic prosecution of the work. Some of the residents of the street complained to the Mayor this morning that the payers were too far behind, and that too much of the thoroughfare was obstructed, but Mr. Mink, who came to the Mayor's office to answer the complaints, satisfied all that he was carrying on the job with a desire to afford as little trouble and inconvenience to the public as possible.
